

Houla Massacre Victims:

Arabic-Language Opposition Lists Correlated

This document is to improve on an initial victim list used briefly by A Closer Look On Syria (ACLOS). It was based on an early list of 107 victims compiled by the opposition Damascus Center for Human Rights Study (DCHRS) – converted to “English” (Roman letters) with Google translate, with only the imprecise result saved.

The DCHRS currently boasts a xls available here: <http://www.syrianhr.org/Attach/Mass.xlsx> but “To view this page, you must log in to area “-----” on www.syrianhr.org.”

An alternate version – probably from them as well - was found on Facebook here, posted by “Martyrs of the revolution since the beginning of the Syrian revolution” May 27, 2012 at 2:02 AM. It's not clear at the moment which list came first or which is considered more definitive. It has the same 107 result, but on correlating, there are some entries the other doesn't have, and in their place, some there not on this one.

So the improved list becomes a correlation of both, for 113 entries, original Arabic for 107, better romanization, and the original goofy list for comparison, with the oddball entries mostly explained now. Google Translate again sufficed for the common names, this time checked for proper order and fullness. For the unknown or less clear names, the audio function on that and/or Mylanguages.org romanization settled it.

* Gender: Not always certain – many are known from other research and/or evident or looked up. And they tend to be lumped together in groups of the same.

* CM=boy CF=girl AM=man AF=woman

* Not listed by one source is rendered -nl-

* All without cause of death noted (the vast majority) were field executed, the 2nd list says (with a standard line like shot or stabbed by the Army.). A few, mostly at the bottom and noted, were by shelling or shooting – apparent rebel fighters, possibly not.
