

Design Iteration 4-21-2015

Features:

- A) The box design from 4-16-15 split on some of its corners, and I figured that if I can increase the surface area on the corners, the stress would be distributed more evenly and hopefully less splitting would occur. To achieve this, additional lobes were added throughout the structure, and fillets were added where they could be.

